

Role of the Macmillan Colorectal Nurses

Role of the Macmillan Colorectal Clinical Nurse Specialist

- An experienced nurse trained in cancer care and colorectal surgery.
- We support patients who have a suspected or confirmed diagnosis.
- The team aim to support patients and their carers/families at each stage of the cancer pathway.
- Our role is to manage the patient's journey through diagnostic and treatment processes at WUTH and community hospitals.

How can we help patients?

- Providing support for patients and their families throughout their journey.
- Facilitate case discussion at the weekly colorectal MDT.
- Act as a point of contact and link between patients and healthcare professionals.
- Provide clear verbal and written information to patients/carers.
- Signposting and working in collaboration with other agencies.

Personalised Care and Holistic Needs Assessment

- Meeting on a one-to-one basis to find out your concerns.
- Care tailored to your needs and wishes.
- Providing help and information on where to get help, for example financial help.
- Referring you to community services to support you.

How can we be contacted?

Tel: 0151 604 7189 or 0151 604 7270
Email: wih-tr.ColorectalNurses@nhs.net