Celebrating Rachel Roberts and Forty Years of NHS Service

We are proud to celebrate a remarkable milestone for our colleague Rachel Roberts, who this week marks forty years of dedicated NHS service.

Rachel's career began in nursing before she found her true calling in midwifery, where she has spent decades supporting women, babies and families across the Wirral.

Her kindness, professionalism, and ability to bring calm to even the busiest days have made her an invaluable member of the maternity team.

A heartfelt message sent on behalf of Rachel's maternity colleagues and friends: "Rachel is the heart of our team. Her compassion, her humour and the way she instinctively supports both families and staff is something truly special. She has guided so many of us through our careers and we are all better for working alongside her."

Over the last four decades, Rachel has played a role in countless births, offered reassurance to families at their most emotional moments and been a trusted mentor to colleagues across the service. Her dedication and humanity embody the very best of our Trust.

Rachel, thank you for forty years of exceptional service, unwavering care and the lasting impact you have made on patients, families and colleagues alike.

Congratulations on this fantastic achievement.
