

Date: 11th December 2025

New eLearning Course for All Staff - Getting the Most from Your Appraisal and Check In Meetings

Appraisal and Check In meetings play an important role in supporting you in your role, providing protected time to discuss your wellbeing, contribution and development with your line manager. To help you feel confident and fully involved in these conversations, a new eLearning course has been developed internally and is now available to all Agenda for Change staff through ESR.

The interactive module takes around 20 minutes to complete and features insights from colleagues who share what meaningful performance conversations feel like, and how you can play your part in shaping them. The course also includes practical tips, useful information and examples designed to help ensure your meetings feel person centred, constructive and valuable to you.

The course is titled Getting The Most From My Appraisal and Check In Meetings and is available now via ESR.

Course enrolment instructions can be found here.